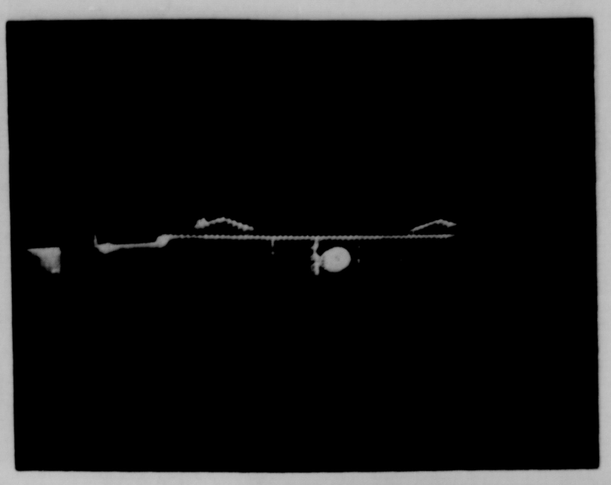
Decorations On Homes And Lawns Brighten Yule Season In City



BEAUTY OF THE YULE SEASON was typified in many local yards, on home doors, and in outdoor displays this year. The quiet reverence of a manger scene was portrayed at Citizens Bank drivein, top right. Next, hundreds of red lights outlined the Edison Fikes home and formed a huge cheerful wreath. At the John Schigut home pots of bright red poinsettias flanked the doorway, framed in greenery and sparkling lights. If you look closely, you can see "Lady" peering through the door. The Lester and Richard Williams families' giant lighted tree on spacious grounds again greeted travelers coming into Cameron on Highway 36. The "growing decoration", which required only three strands of lights when it was first used, has seven this year. And at left, the W. R. Newton home was a delightful sight for residents, with Mr. and Mrs. Santa and elves on the lawn, and another version of the jolly old gent sitting on the porch to greet visitors.

Now

With F.M.L.

A post - Christmas newspaper is caught between the delight of Christmas Day and anticipation of New Year frolic.

It's sort of like those activists of us who are expected to do something, so the 99 percent can wonder at what is done and worry over what is undone.

Contemplation is a dangerous art, but it is of little value without action. Erik Erikson, eminent psychiatrist of this day, once advised a student, to paraphrase: "There is too little silence and not enough action."

It has been a big year for your Herald, one that has had national and international implications.

It has been a wonderful Christmas season. If we are to draw any conclusion prior to a New Year, we would note appreciation for greatness in men, which must surmount great odds to reveal itself. But it does. And that is enormous hope for a New Year.

Keep the momentum, Milam County, it is an incredible (to use an overused word) time for people who do things, who act upon contemplation, who evidence courage.

It is that quality which enables all our other attributes to function. It enables us "to wear a mantle lightly" when there is such a scrap to reach it.

Laugh more. Better yet, grow a mustache. Keeps you sharp explaining why you have more hair on the upper lip than dead center atop the head.

Happy Holiday Season!

Christmas Ends On HappyKey

Sales personnel went home Christmas Eve to soak aching feet and breathe a sigh of relief that the rush was over, while Cameron merchants looked back on one of the best holiday seasons in years.

By Thursday afternoon, depleted shelves in stores testified to the thousands of sales rung up as last-minute shoppers combed stores for that annual last-minute gift or another supply of gift wrap.

When Santa greeted small visitors here on his two Saturday visits, he found families from Rosebud, Bryan, Buckholts, Rogers, Hearne, Rockdale, and other area towns who were among local shoppers.

One department store reported that sales volume on Saturday before Christmas had broken the previous all-time high record set in 1937 for the store.

And the quickening holiday pace was also marked at the bus station, which reported that buses were so full of Christmas travelers it was necessary to have trucks following the buses to handled the tremendous baggage load.

Even the weather cooperated, banishing the unseasonal heat and replacing it with more December-like weather.

On the home front, Christmas morning may have been greeted with mixed emotions for some parents, who had seen that Santa granted "hearts' desires." They may have had second thoughts, especially in one home, where white mice, parakeets, and a long green lizard mingled with conventional gifts.

The day was brightened for many adults by the usual "gag gifts" from friends who took the perfect opportunity to pick some item aimed at carrying on a running personal joke.

Meanwhile, at least 144 little boys were busily stuffing treasures into 144 new billfolds (reported the hottest item at one variety store); hundreds of little girls were lavishing love on new dolls, and the sound of "hot wheels" was heard in the land.

60 'Hopefuls' Register For 18-Yr-Old Vote

County Tax Assessor Valter White reminded voters of the January 31 deadline for registering to vote in the 1971 elections. He said about sixty 18-year-olds have made applications at the courthouse to vote in 1971.

A U. S. Supreme Court decision assured the 18-year-olds a vote in presidential and congressional elections. The voter requirements for state and local elections were left up to the individual states by the court.

State Rep. Joe Allen of Baytown has announced that he will re-introduce a constitutional amendment allowing 18-year-olds to vote in state and local elections in Texas.

Gov. Preston Smith has said he will support the amendment although he personally favored letting 20-year-olds vote.

Until Texas permits 18-year-olds to vote in local and state elections there will have to be dual ballots for state and federal candidates in primary and general elections.

$1 Million Hospital Proposed

A group in Rockdale will apply for non-profit status approval from Internal Revenue as the first step toward opening a fund campaign to build a 40 bed, $1 million hospital in Rockdale. The proposed community owned, non-profit hospital would replace the 26 bed Richards Hospital that has been notified it will lose medicare certification because it does not meet HEW regulations. A 12-member hospital board elected Emory C. Camp president of the newly formed board of trustees, Dr. John T. Richards, vice-president; Harold M. Luckey, treasurer; and Bill Cooke, secretary. Other board members are Howard F. Chrisco, Caroll Glaser, L. C. Mehaffey, H. H. Coffield, W. P. Hogan, Dr. Philip Young, Kenneth Smith and Dr. L. E. Selden. The board will apply for $500,000 in Hill Burton funds. The proposed hospital will be called Richards Memorial Hospital in honor of Dr. John Richards, founder of the present hospital.

Second Bond Election Called

A second bond election has been called for Caldwell voters by the Caldwell school board. The school district will vote January 9 on a proposal to raise $650,000 through bonds to build a new high school and make general improvements on existing school facilities. Voters turned down a proposal on December 5 that would have built a new high school and junior high. Caldwell High School classes are now being held in the basement of the gymnasium and other temporary locations.

$1.5M School Contracts Let

Construction will start after January 1 on a $1.5 million school plant at Round Rock. Plans include construction of a new high school that will accomodate 1200 students and can be expanded to facilities for 2000, and a modern elementary school. Both buildings will be all electric and air conditioned. The high school will feature a library learning center and a band hall which will be one of the five largest and most complete in the state. Hallways will be of terrazo flooring and carpeting. Robert Gray Construction Co. of Austin was awarded the contract for the high school on a low bid of $1,286,800. R. E. Butler of Bryan will be contractor for the Pond Springs Elementary School on a bid of $169,692. Contracts will be awarded at a later date for a large vocational building and football stadium.

Chairman Cites Prospects...

Harper Sees Progress For Alcoa In 1971

PITTSBURGH, Pa.

Aluminum industry progress in 1971 and beyond will continue to outstrip an improving general economy, in the opinion of Chairman John D. Harper, chief executive officer of Aluminum Company of America.

U.S. shipments next year should show a gain of at least five percent, and probably more, in contrast to an expected five percent decline in 1970 from 1969.

Aluminum users, who reduced inventories during most of 1970, now are beginning to rebuild stocks because of the improving business outlook, and partially because basic aluminum industry labor agreements terminate May 31, unless extended by mutual consent.

"At the moment," said Harper in commenting on the outlook for 1971, "the most significant potential deterrent to a better year for aluminum would be extended labor disputes affecting the can manufacturing, aluminum or steel industries. Peaceful achievement of new agreements by all three will be a tonic for the economy."

Powerful marketing plus factors for aluminum in the 12 months ahead are already visible, Alcoa's top officer noted.

RESIDENTIAL HOUSING

A key sector will be residential housing, which utilizes an ever increasing amount of aluminum per unit.

Housing starts have picked up as mortagage money has become more readily available and interest rates have dropped, Harper continued. Total private and public housing units built in 1971 should average about 1.6 million, an increase of about 15 percent over 1970.

Alcoa, which today is persistently targeting its marketing effort toward higher profit areas and allocating its resources accordingly, has made housing a priority item, Harper said.

The company, during 1970, developed and is now selling a total system of aluminum framing members requiring less labor and material. Known as "Alumi-Frame," it is structurally superior to and more economical than wood framing and is attracting national attention from cost-minded builders.

PACKAGING

Packaging, as it has for several years, Harper noted, continues to be aluminum's fastest - growing market with no end in sight in any phase of this industry.

An Alcoa innovation in recent months was its sponsorship of the "Yes we can" plan to reclaim and recycle used all-aluminum cans. The program, which capitalizes on aluminum's $200 a ton value as scrap, was introduced during the last quarter in the San Diego, Dallas and Fort Worth areas, and already has achieved notable success.

Another huge and growing outlet for aluminum, which will consume the metal in record tonnages for years to come, is the electrical industry. Utilities are expanding their systems at an unprecedented rate and are accelerating their use of aluminum as they continue to switch away from copper both in transmission lines and generating and switching equipment.

TRANSPORTATION

Also gaining strongly are aluminum applications in the transportation industry.

The all-aluminum engine block is now standard in the new General Motors' Vega, and Alcoa is a major supplier of the metal. Passenger cars across the board will evidence an increase average use of aluminum in 1971.

Railroads and utilities are adopting the unit train concept in coal haulers, utilizing gondola cars employing 10,000 pounds of aluminum per unit.

Planned mass transit systems will consume major tonnages of aluminum in systems, controls and rolling stock.

OVERSEAS PROSPECTS

Encouraging as these domestic prospects may be, Harper commented, long-term overseas prospects are even better.

Per-captia consumption of aluminum is rising in all free-world areas, proportionately more rapidly in some than in the United States.

Latest figures available -- those for 1969 -- revealed that Japan's per capita consumption skyrocketed from a meager 4.3 pounds in 1960 to 22.6 pounds. U. S. consumption, during the same period, advanced from 23.8 to 49.3 pounds.

United Kingdom use rose from 17.3 to 23.2; The Netherlands, 5.6 to 12.2; West Germany 15.9 to 30.5, and Australia, from 11.6 to 22.6 pounds.

"As this illustrates," Harper concluded, "the aluminum industry has much going for it. True. . . it shares many problems and has some peculiar to its own destiny, such as the all-important objective of improving return on its high capital costs.

"Another is the achievement of necessary expansion in a planned and timely way which avoids costly over-capacity. Alcoa's continuing mission during the seventies will be to emphasize research and development, improved management techniques, and diversified selectivity in its approach to markets.

"The combination, in our opinion, spells profitable progress."

Driving To 1971....

If you are alive and well, you are not yet one of Department of Public Safety's predicted 87 fatalities on Texas highways.

You still have time.

You can either get a bit careless and join this "elect group" or you can be careful when you drive.

An estimated 52 persons died by midnight Sunday. Another 35 are scheduled "to go" by midnight Sunday, January 3.

The statistics are amazingly accurate, give or take a few funerals, over the years. If only drivers were as good at anticipating what the guy on the road will do.

We can talk about the 40,000 plus deaths in Vietnam with fervor, then discount the approximate 50,000 who died annually on American roads and freeways.

If one kind of dying is any worse than another, we are pressed to understand the difference.

War is being wound down in Vietnam. We have yet to recover perhaps 1,600 American prisoners there

We need not abandon concern for the poor devil who who survives war and breaks his neck in a collision back home. Either way he is dead.

So share even this concern for humanity, if that is your big concern. "Drive friendly," as Governor Smith urges.

The year 1971 is only a good year, or bad, for the living.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Fair Warning

While a housewife was polishing her dining room table, the telephone rang in the kitchen. Although she was out of the room only a few minutes, her infant son managed to take a drink of the furniture polish. It was poisonous, and the child died.

In due course, the victim's parents filed a damage suit against the manufacturer of the polish. They charged that the label failed to warn how dangerous the polish was.

True, the label did contain the words "May be harmful if swallowed.". Nevertheless, the company was indeed held liable for the tragedy. The words were found to be too mild a warning for so deadly a product. Besides, they were placed in an obscure position on the package.

One of the common issues in product liability cases is whether the manufacturer has given the user "fair warning" of possible dange'. Generally speaking, the warning should be as conspicuous and as urgent as the danger reasonably calls for.

To judge the adequacy of a particular warning, courts will weigh various factors. Thus:

A label on paint, listing a dangerous ingredient, was held inadequate because the ingredient was described only by its chemical name, which few users would understand.

And the warning on a cleaning fluid was held inadequate because it was printed in letters that were too small.

On the other hand, when the warning is fair, it is not the manufacturer's fault if the user simply fails to pay attention to it. For example:

An adhesive compound, placed too close to an open flame, exploded and injured the user. But when he sued for damages, the company pointed out that the label had a plain and positive warning of the danger. Accordingly, the victim's claim was turned down.

Furthermore, many dangers are so obvious that no warning is needed at all. As one judge put it:

"A knife will cut and a stove will burn; but no authority holds that manufacturers must warn of such contingencies. No one needs notice of what he already knows."

Detached Retina May Be Inherited, Geneticist Says

COLLEGE STATION

A Texas A&M University geneticist believes that heredity plays a strong role in an affliction known as detached retina in human eyes.

Dr. N. A. McNiel, an associate professor of genetics, has just finished a year-long study of a large West Texas family for which he constructed a 181-member family tree. The study covered four generations.

His research turned up 31 with detached or partly detached retinas. Seven of the 31 are blind. After ophthalmological examination, eight members were found to be in need of immediate surgery.

The condition is a tearing or peeling of a thin lining on the inside rear of the eyeball. The lining contacts the optic nerve. Tearing can occur painlessly and with no immediate visual symptoms.

Here are some of McNiel's research conclusions:

---Detached retina in humans is inherited as an autosomal dominant gene. This means a child of a parent carrying the gene for the ailment stands almost a 50-50 chance of developing the trouble. The affliction can strike at any age.

---Very little research has been done recently on detached retina from the genetic standpoint.

---Frequent medical examination of persons subject to the affliction may prevent many cases of blindness.

---The inheritance of detached retina can be demonstrated in other families if enough time is spent in constructing a complete family tree through four or five generations.

McNiel said he is interested in hearing from persons who would like to investigate the condition in their family.

January Draft Call Is 905 Men

The January draft call for Texas is 905. Local draft boards will fill the call with men from the Extended Priority Selection Group with men from the First Priority Selection Group for 1971.

Colonel Duncan explained that the Extended Priority Selection Group includes all those men in I-A and I-A-O on December 31, 1970, whose random sequence numbers were reached by their local boards during 1970 but who were not called.

This group is made up of young men born between 1944 and 1950 who have not reached their 26th birthday.

The First Priority Selection Group for January will include men with random sequence numbers 100 and below and random sequence number 100 is expected to remain the ceiling for several months.

This group is composed of young men who reached age 19 during 1970, and who received lottery numbers in the July 1970 drawing and have not received deferments or exemptions from service.

COMPLEMENT

if you mean to flatter or speak highly of someone or thing.

COMPLIMENT is the correct word for this.

COMPLEMENT means that which fills up or completes a thing; that which must be added to make up a whole.

Example: the ship has her full COMPLEMENT of men. The reception was a perfect COMPLEMENT to the play.

WANT TO HAVE SOME FUN? TRY HUNTING BOB CATS IN LITTLE RIVER BOTTOM 65 YEARS AGO.

Its not too often we come across a picture such as this one made in Cameron 65 years ago and its not too often that a bob cat hunt is successful. A bob cat can run a pack of good hounds completely out of their minds. He runs in small circles, trees, jumps out and runs again and will take to the water to avoid capture. It is a lucky hound indeed that comes out of a bob cat fight without some scars. Pictured here is one of the largest bob cats ever caught in this area. It was caught in what used to be the big thicket next to the railroad in Little River bottom. It had been hunted many times before, but had always managed to get away.

Team power on instant call

That's TP&L and T.I.S.

T.I.S.? These initials are an abbreviation for Texas Interconnected System.

T.I.S. is made up of TP&L and eight other Texas electric utility firms which have joined together to assure that each, in times of emergency, can obtain power from the others instantly. This is just another technique TP&L uses to provide reliable electric service at the lowest possible cost.

Although TP&L has devised many new cost-cutting methods in most phases of its operation, the Company, like other firms and individuals, is experiencing a money pinch.

Increases in the cost of borrowing money for expansion, increased fuel costs for generating electricity, increased taxes and TP&L wage increases have placed a heavy burden on the Company to maintain electric rates at the level of the 1950's.

However, TP&L customers can be assured the Company will continue to supply an ample amount of electric power for everyone—at a reasonable cost.

4-H News

By Danny Phillips

The Holiday Season is here at last. It seems only yesterday that the new year of 1970 began. Now, most last minutes plans have been made and everything is all set for the arrival of that jolly old gentleman and his bag ful of gifts for the children.

And truly Christmas is for kids. And even tho we may complain about all of the bustle and hustle, we all know it is for the children's benefit. It reminds me of a story I heard about children and parents.

It seems there was a young boy who came in the living room one day where his father sat. The father was reading the newspaper and listening to T.V. The boy asked his father if he could come and play with him, but the father excused himself saying, he was too tired from his day's labor and didn't feel like playing. So the boy left like an obedient child.

A few minutes later the boy returned and the same scene was repeated. The father told him he was too busy and not to bother him.

The young boy was persistent and came back yet a third time. This time the father happened to notice a magazine beside him with a picture of the world on the front of it. Using his fatherly psychology he tore the page into small pieces and told the boy that when he had put the paper back together he would then play with him.

Delighted, the boy left and in a short 5 minutes returned. The father was astounded. He asked his son how he could do it so fast. The boy explained that on the back of the world picture there was a picture of a group of children playing. He had merely put the children together and thus the front picture was also correct.

He told his father, "You know dad, when you get the children together right, the world turns out right."

Maybe we should take a lesson from this story. Everyone, no matter who, should and can contribute to making the children right. MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL!

BUSINESS REVIEW

Shaw's Garage Offers Complete Repair Service

Ossie Shaw knows a lot about automobiles. He knows a lot about automotive specialties like radiators.

He is "putting it all together" on Waco Highway (US 77) across from Cameron Courts within a wrecker service and wrecking yard.

General repair is Shaw Garage by-word. Shaw and assistant Joe Mack Tabor can repair any kind of problem on domestic automobiles.

Work on air conditioning, transmissions, engines, mufflers, radiators, salvage is part of the Shaw Garage service.

Shaw personally has 30 years in the automotive business, general repair and radiator service. And his work toward a complete general repair and wrecking service continues in the Waco Highway location.

One of Shaw's Garage features is 24-hour service. And the phone number to remember is 697-3660. A call there anytime day or night will bring wrecker service to the stalled or damaged vehicle.

Shaw also offers used auto parts and used autos as well as complete overhaul on any American car.

Shaw opened in his new location March, 1970. Move from a location in Cameron was an expansion to the greater service center for wrecker service and auto repair.

Double doors await the incoming service customer, enough room to accomodate vehicles which require any of the services Shaw's Garage provides. Why not drive by today, or call when you need service you can depend on?

And remember that phone number, 697-3660, when your vehicle needs a tow to service or when a wrecker is vital to bring in a damaged vehicle.

Ossie Shaw will be there.

Cameron Motors: Chevrolet & Household Center

Cameron Motor Co, corner of Fourth and Fannin, is an automotive and household center.

Cameron Motor Co, of course, is the franchised Chevrolet dealership where new 1971's now are on display in an enlarging showroom and where complete auto service awaits.

This household center in butane and natural gas equipment is complete through Central Butane offices and availability of Gulf and Goodrich tires and batteries.

R. W. Wells, owner of Cameron Motor Co., assures that complete automotive service is made possible with front-end alignment and wheelbalancing equipment and competent personnel.

And Travis Trotter, automotive manager, brings capable sales background to new and used car sales, emphasizing the 1971 Chevrolet line of cars and trucks which now is available, following the recently ended GM strike.

If it is household equipment needs in either butane or natural gas, Central Butane offers a complete household equipment lineup: central heating and air conditioning, kitchen ranges, heaters, waterheaters, a complete offering of first-line equipment.

Gulf tire and battery products are added to availability of a complete parts department for Chevrolet cars and trucks. Cameron Motor mechanics know tractor needs, particularly in tires.

Jack DuBois, is manager of Central Butane.

Associated with Cameron Motor Co. is the Charles Chandler Body Shop, where complete automotive body repair and "styling" is part of the automotive picture.

The whole operation is housed in about 18,000 square feet of modern, paneled offices, display and sales rooms and offices at Cameron Motor Co.

Work continues on refining better useage of the major automotive and household center, one of the largest in Central Texas.

Work underway will allow greater display room of used cars on the Fourth St. front of the Chevrolet agency and additional display room for new Chevrolets.

Wells started the transformation in June, when he purchased the Chevrolet franchise and instituted Cameron Motor Co.

It even includes a bulldozer and heavy equipment service, another element of Wells development around Cameron Motor Co.

So if it's for complete automotive and household gas equipments needs, Cameron Motor Co. and related service is the place.

Guest of Mrs. Hazel Clark last week were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Black and family of Victoria, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wilson of New Gulf who are spending some time at their country home in San Gabriel and Mrs. Gladys Stigall and son Bob of Austin.

Bron to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mitchell of Hearne on Dec. 13 a son named Gary Wayne. The Mitchells have another son, Paul Alan and the grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Buck Garner of this community.

Sunday the Garners and the Barkley Garners and sons of Austin went to Hearne to see the new baby. Then later in the week Mrs. Buck Garner returned to Hearne to help take care of her newest grandson for a few days.

The Donny Heines, Darren and Dawn were in Tyler for a pre-Christmas visit with Virginia's brother and family there.

Stockmen Attend Cattle Meeting

By J. D. Moore

Irwin Fuessel of Thorndale, J. L. Banks of Rockdale, Ezra Johnson and D. S. Smith Jr of Gause, Henry Ivey, Jimmy Newhouse, Henry Gates, John Snell, Ray Jensen, Leo Fuchs, Calvin Cobb and J. D. Moore all from the Cameron area attended a two day beef cattle meeting at A&M on December 14 and 15.

Researchers in the animal science department gave a number of interesting programs on various phases of the beef cattle business.

Dr. Gibney Kendrick Jr., Falls County Stockman discussed the topic "A Central Texas Beef Producer Looks to the Future."

Dr. Kendrick emphasized the changes needed for those to continue in the beef cattle business. He stressed product improvement by pointing out that the average weaning weight of calves in Texas is 385 pounds.

Records are needed along with cross breeding, use of proven sires, artificial breeding to produce calves capable of gaining 3 lbs. a day on 6 lbs of feed.

Not only should efficiency be improved, but we must produce cattle to meet market demands, says Dr. Kendrick.

Much valuable research is under way at A&M. This cattle meeting was designed to give stockmen from the blackland area an opportunity to see and hear about the research projects being carried on through research not only at A&M, but at research stations located throughout Texas.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Beef Sirloin Tip Roast.

Q. Where does it come from? How is it identified?

A. The beef sirloin tip roast is cut from the thin side of the beef round and contains a small portion of the sirloin. The only bone is the knee cap. Frequently this cut is retailed with the bone, cap muscle and thin layer of outer fat removed, making a compact, easy to carve roast.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. By roasting (if of high quality) or braising. To roast, place the meat fat side up on a rack in an open roasting pan. Roast in slow oven (325°F.) until the thermometer registers 140°F. to 160°F. (rare to medium), depending upon degree of doneness desired.

To braise, brown meat on all sides in heavy utensil. Season as desired and add a small amount of liquid. Cover tightly and cook slowly until tender, about 3 to 4 hours.

ASCS

By Alva E. Sanders

Milam County ASC Committee Chairman Ted Ford, has resigned. Mr. Ford has served 17 years as a commendable committeeman.

The new member of the ASC Committee will be Erwin Fuessel, who will serve as regular member. The other two members of the three-member ASC County Committee are Hugo Fuchs who is now chairman and Pete Keen will be serving as vice-chairman.

The following are some major provisions of the 1971 Feed Grain Program that was recently passed by legislation. At this time, however, there are many unknowns in the feed grain situation.

The final set-aside percentage is not being announced until there is additional information on factors affecting the 1971 crops. For the purpose of the January Farmers Planting Intentions Report, the Department will tentatively plan for a 20 percent set-aside for feed grain.

The decision on the actual percentage will be made prior to the program signup period. March 1 through April 9, 1971. In addition to the set-aside acreage a farmer must also maintain the conserving base established for the farm.

The set-aside program will give producers more options in the uncertain situations for corn than previous programs since it places no limits on the planting of crops except those for which marketing quotas are approved by farmers. These crops are peanuts, rice, tobacco, extra long staple cotton, and sugarcane.

Corn and grain sorghum will be considered feed grains for purposes of the set-aside program -- barley will not be included. As under previous programs, a feed grain base will be established for each farm. This base will be approximately the same size as the one established for each farm in 1970.

The feed grain base under the set-aside program does not represent a limitation on the acreage of feed grains which may be planted, but will be used for the following two purposes: to determine the amount of price support payment for each farm; and to determine the number of acres to be set-aside from crop production to qualify for such payment.

The method of calculating set-aside payments for a farm will be like that of the 1970 program: half the feed grain base times the farm yield times the payment per bushel. Unlike the 1970 program -- when participants were paid on the actual acreage of feed grain planted up to 50 percent of the farm base -- participants in the set-aside program will receive the full payment regardless of what they plant on their acreage.

A farmer is not required to plant feed grains to earn price support payment as has been required under prior programs. However, if less than 45 percent of the feed grain base is planted, the base for 1972 and subsequent years may be reduced (except if a farmer participates in both the feed grain and wheat programs, or if he has no wheat allotment and participates in the feed grain program, wheat acreage in excess of the allotment and participates in the feed grain program, wheat acreage in excess of the allotment will be counted as feed grain for base retention purposes.)

A producer may participate in the feed grain program on any farm or all farms in which he has an interest, as he wishes.

For more details concerning the 1971 Feed Grain Program, or the Cotton and Wheat Programs, contact the Milam County ASCS Office.

Steak Scores with Teens

A recent survey reveals that steak is the favorite food of America's 13 million teenage girls, and hamburgers are the food item they cook most often for themselves. Four out of 5 girls also eat canned meat products, and enjoy them for snacks as well as meals. They admit to taste being more important than nutritional value in choosing canned meat products.

FISH FARMERS TO MEET

The first annual convention of the Catfish Farmers of Texas, Inc. and the third annual Fish Farming Conference will be held in Texas A&M's Memorial Student Center, Jan. 7-8, 1971. Wallace Klussmann, Extension wildlife specialist, says any person interested in fish farming is invited to attend. Some 500 persons are expected. Discussion will center around two major problems; parasites and diseases and marketing. Fish farming equipment will also be on display during the two days, he said. Local county agents have details.

Soaring Seventies

By 1980 it is estimated personal consumer spending will hit eight hundred billion dollars annually. About 66 percent of the American people will have a real income over $7,500 a year and one in four families will enjoy a income of over $15,000.

Menu Please!

A recent survey shows that people eat 1 out of 7 meals away from home, and that families with higher incomes eat out more often. As might be expected, city dwellers eat out more often than rural people.

Wary European despots once bought Venetian crystal goblets in the vain belief they shattered at a drop of poison, recalls the National Geographic Society's new book, The Renaissance.

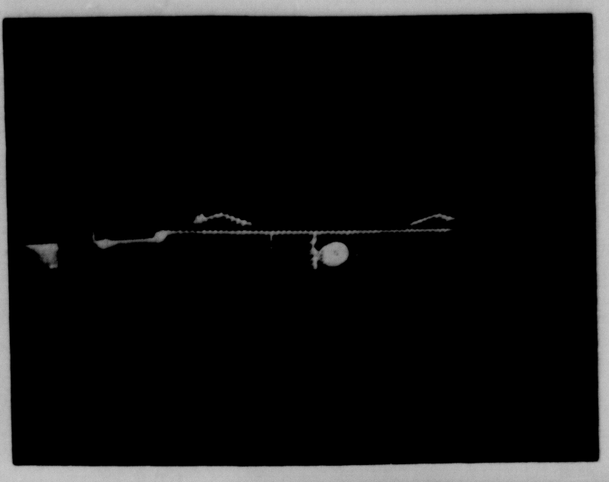
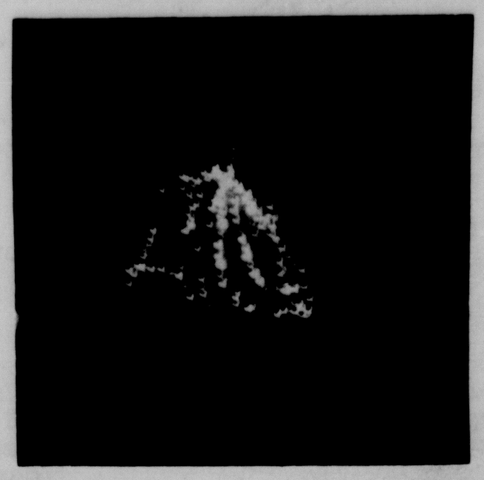
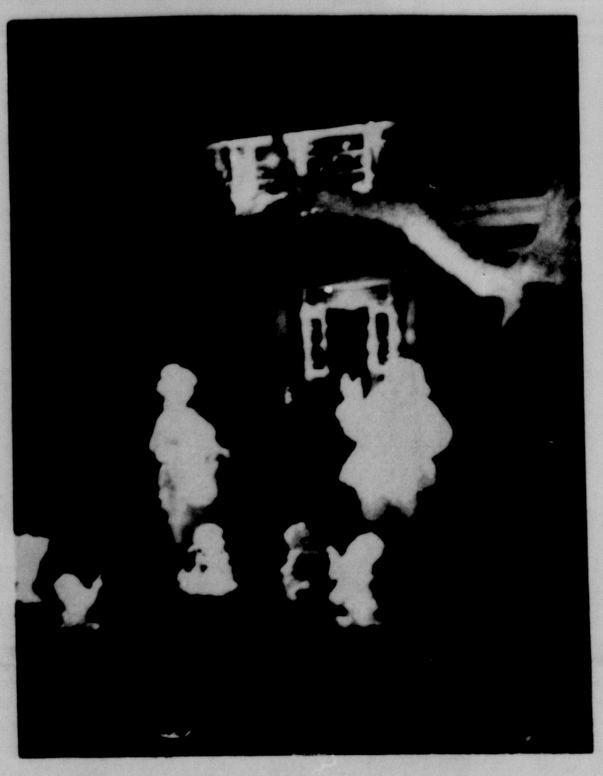
Decorations On Homes And Lawns Brighten Yule Season In City







BEAUTY OF THE YULE SEASON was typified in many local yards, on home doors, and in outdoor displays this year. The quiet reverence of a manger scene was portrayed at Citizens Bank drivein, top right. Next, hundreds of red lights outlined the Edison Fikes home and formed a huge cheerful wreath. At the John Schigut home pots of bright red poinsettias flanked the doorway, framed in greenery and sparkling lights. If you look closely, you can see "Lady" peering through the door. The Lester and Richard Williams families' giant lighted tree on spacious grounds again greeted travelers coming into Cameron on Highway 36. The "growing decoration", which required only three strands of lights when it was first used, has seven this year. And at left, the W. R. Newton home was a delightful sight for residents, with Mr. and Mrs. Santa and elves on the lawn, and another version of the jolly old gent sitting on the porch to greet visitors.

A post - Christmas newspaper is caught between the delight of Christmas Day and anticipation of New Year frolic.

It's sort of like those activists of us who are expected to do something, so the 99 percent can wonder at what is done and worry over what is undone.

Contemplation is a dangerous art, but it is of little value without action. Erik Erikson, eminent psychiatrist of this day, once advised a student, to paraphrase: "There is too little silence and not enough action."

It has been a big year for your Herald, one that has had national and international implications.

It has been a wonderful Christmas season. If we are to draw any conclusion prior to a New Year, we would note appreciation for greatness in men, which must surmount great odds to reveal itself. But it does. And that is enormous hope for a New Year.

Keep the momentum, Milam County, it is an incredible (to use an overused word) time for people who do things, who act upon contemplation, who evidence courage.

It is that quality which enables all our other attributes to function. It enables us "to wear a mantle lightly" when there is such a scrap to reach it.

Laugh more. Better yet, grow a mustache. Keeps you sharp explaining why you have more hair on the upper lip than dead center atop the head.

$1 Million Hospital Proposed

A group in Rockdale will apply for non-profit status approval from Internal Revenue as the first step toward opening a fund campaign to build a 40 bed, $1 million hospital in Rockdale. The proposed community owned, non-profit hospital would replace the 26 bed Richards Hospital that has been notified it will lose medicare certification because it does not meet HEW regulations. A 12-member hospital board elected Emory C. Camp president of the newly formed board of trustees, Dr. John T. Richards, vice-president; Harold M. Luckey, treasurer; and Bill Cooke, secretary. Other board members are Howard F. Chrisco, Caroll Glaser, L. C. Mehaffey, H. H. Coffield, W. P. Hogan, Dr. Philip Young, Kenneth Smith and Dr. L. E. Selden. The board will apply for $500,000 in Hill Burton funds. The proposed hospital will be called Richards Memorial Hospital in honor of Dr. John Richards, founder of the present hospital.

Second Bond Election Called

A second bond election has been called for Caldwell voters by the Caldwell school board. The school district will vote January 9 on a proposal to raise $650,000 through bonds to build a new high school and make general improvements on existing school facilities. Voters turned down a proposal on December 5 that would have built a new high school and junior high. Caldwell High School classes are now being held in the basement of the gymnasium and other temporary locations.

$1.5M School Contracts Let

Construction will start after January 1 on a $1.5 million school plant at Round Rock. Plans include construction of a new high school that will accomodate 1200 students and can be expanded to facilities for 2000, and a modern elementary school. Both buildings will be all electric and air conditioned. The high school will feature a library learning center and a band hall which will be one of the five largest and most complete in the state. Hallways will be of terrazo flooring and carpeting. Robert Gray Construction Co. of Austin was awarded the contract for the high school on a low bid of $1,286,800. R. E. Butler of Bryan will be contractor for the Pond Springs Elementary School on a bid of $169,692. Contracts will be awarded at a later date for a large vocational building and football stadium.

60 'Hopefuls' Register For 18-Yr-Old Vote

County Tax Assessor Valter White reminded voters of the January 31 deadline for registering to vote in the 1971 elections. He said about sixty 18-year-olds have made applications at the courthouse to vote in 1971.

A U. S. Supreme Court decision assured the 18-year-olds a vote in presidential and congressional elections. The voter requirements for state and local elections were left up to the individual states by the court.

State Rep. Joe Allen of Baytown has announced that he will re-introduce a constitutional amendment allowing 18-year-olds to vote in state and local elections in Texas.

Gov. Preston Smith has said he will support the amendment although he personally favored letting 20-year-olds vote.

Until Texas permits 18-year-olds to vote in local and state elections there will have to be dual ballots for state and federal candidates in primary and general elections.

Christmas Ends On HappyKey

Sales personnel went home Christmas Eve to soak aching feet and breathe a sigh of relief that the rush was over, while Cameron merchants looked back on one of the best holiday seasons in years.

By Thursday afternoon, depleted shelves in stores testified to the thousands of sales rung up as last-minute shoppers combed stores for that annual last-minute gift or another supply of gift wrap.

When Santa greeted small visitors here on his two Saturday visits, he found families from Rosebud, Bryan, Buckholts, Rogers, Hearne, Rockdale, and other area towns who were among local shoppers.

One department store reported that sales volume on Saturday before Christmas had broken the previous all-time high record set in 1937 for the store.

And the quickening holiday pace was also marked at the bus station, which reported that buses were so full of Christmas travelers it was necessary to have trucks following the buses to handled the tremendous baggage load.

Even the weather cooperated, banishing the unseasonal heat and replacing it with more December-like weather.

On the home front, Christmas morning may have been greeted with mixed emotions for some parents, who had seen that Santa granted "hearts' desires." They may have had second thoughts, especially in one home, where white mice, parakeets, and a long green lizard mingled with conventional gifts.

The day was brightened for many adults by the usual "gag gifts" from friends who took the perfect opportunity to pick some item aimed at carrying on a running personal joke.

Meanwhile, at least 144 little boys were busily stuffing treasures into 144 new billfolds (reported the hottest item at one variety store); hundreds of little girls were lavishing love on new dolls, and the sound of "hot wheels" was heard in the land.

Chairman Cites Prospects...

Harper Sees Progress For Alcoa In 1971

PITTSBURGH, Pa.

Aluminum industry progress in 1971 and beyond will continue to outstrip an improving general economy, in the opinion of Chairman John D. Harper, chief executive officer of Aluminum Company of America.

U.S. shipments next year should show a gain of at least five percent, and probably more, in contrast to an expected five percent decline in 1970 from 1969.

Aluminum users, who reduced inventories during most of 1970, now are beginning to rebuild stocks because of the improving business outlook, and partially because basic aluminum industry labor agreements terminate May 31, unless extended by mutual consent.

"At the moment," said Harper in commenting on the outlook for 1971, "the most significant potential deterrent to a better year for aluminum would be extended labor disputes affecting the can manufacturing, aluminum or steel industries. Peaceful achievement of new agreements by all three will be a tonic for the economy."

Powerful marketing plus factors for aluminum in the 12 months ahead are already visible, Alcoa's top officer noted.

RESIDENTIAL HOUSING

A key sector will be residential housing, which utilizes an ever increasing amount of aluminum per unit.

Housing starts have picked up as mortagage money has become more readily available and interest rates have dropped, Harper continued. Total private and public housing units built in 1971 should average about 1.6 million, an increase of about 15 percent over 1970.

Alcoa, which today is persistently targeting its marketing effort toward higher profit areas and allocating its resources accordingly, has made housing a priority item, Harper said.

The company, during 1970, developed and is now selling a total system of aluminum framing members requiring less labor and material. Known as "Alumi-Frame," it is structurally superior to and more economical than wood framing and is attracting national attention from cost-minded builders.

PACKAGING

Packaging, as it has for several years, Harper noted, continues to be aluminum's fastest - growing market with no end in sight in any phase of this industry.

An Alcoa innovation in recent months was its sponsorship of the "Yes we can" plan to reclaim and recycle used all-aluminum cans. The program, which capitalizes on aluminum's $200 a ton value as scrap, was introduced during the last quarter in the San Diego, Dallas and Fort Worth areas, and already has achieved notable success.

Another huge and growing outlet for aluminum, which will consume the metal in record tonnages for years to come, is the electrical industry. Utilities are expanding their systems at an unprecedented rate and are accelerating their use of aluminum as they continue to switch away from copper both in transmission lines and generating and switching equipment.

TRANSPORTATION

Also gaining strongly are aluminum applications in the transportation industry.

The all-aluminum engine block is now standard in the new General Motors' Vega, and Alcoa is a major supplier of the metal. Passenger cars across the board will evidence an increase average use of aluminum in 1971.

Railroads and utilities are adopting the unit train concept in coal haulers, utilizing gondola cars employing 10,000 pounds of aluminum per unit.

Planned mass transit systems will consume major tonnages of aluminum in systems, controls and rolling stock.

OVERSEAS PROSPECTS

Encouraging as these domestic prospects may be, Harper commented, long-term overseas prospects are even better.

Per-captia consumption of aluminum is rising in all free-world areas, proportionately more rapidly in some than in the United States.

Latest figures available -- those for 1969 -- revealed that Japan's per capita consumption skyrocketed from a meager 4.3 pounds in 1960 to 22.6 pounds. U. S. consumption, during the same period, advanced from 23.8 to 49.3 pounds.

United Kingdom use rose from 17.3 to 23.2; The Netherlands, 5.6 to 12.2; West Germany 15.9 to 30.5, and Australia, from 11.6 to 22.6 pounds.

"As this illustrates," Harper concluded, "the aluminum industry has much going for it. True. . . it shares many problems and has some peculiar to its own destiny, such as the all-important objective of improving return on its high capital costs.

"Another is the achievement of necessary expansion in a planned and timely way which avoids costly over-capacity. Alcoa's continuing mission during the seventies will be to emphasize research and development, improved management techniques, and diversified selectivity in its approach to markets.

"The combination, in our opinion, spells profitable progress."

Driving To 1971....

If you are alive and well, you are not yet one of Department of Public Safety's predicted 87 fatalities on Texas highways.

You still have time.

You can either get a bit careless and join this "elect group" or you can be careful when you drive.

An estimated 52 persons died by midnight Sunday. Another 35 are scheduled "to go" by midnight Sunday, January 3.

The statistics are amazingly accurate, give or take a few funerals, over the years. If only drivers were as good at anticipating what the guy on the road will do.

We can talk about the 40,000 plus deaths in Vietnam with fervor, then discount the approximate 50,000 who died annually on American roads and freeways.

If one kind of dying is any worse than another, we are pressed to understand the difference.

War is being wound down in Vietnam. We have yet to recover perhaps 1,600 American prisoners there

We need not abandon concern for the poor devil who who survives war and breaks his neck in a collision back home. Either way he is dead.

So share even this concern for humanity, if that is your big concern. "Drive friendly," as Governor Smith urges.

The year 1971 is only a good year, or bad, for the living.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Fair Warning

While a housewife was polishing her dining room table, the telephone rang in the kitchen. Although she was out of the room only a few minutes, her infant son managed to take a drink of the furniture polish. It was poisonous, and the child died.

In due course, the victim's parents filed a damage suit against the manufacturer of the polish. They charged that the label failed to warn how dangerous the polish was.

True, the label did contain the words "May be harmful if swallowed.". Nevertheless, the company was indeed held liable for the tragedy. The words were found to be too mild a warning for so deadly a product. Besides, they were placed in an obscure position on the package.

One of the common issues in product liability cases is whether the manufacturer has given the user "fair warning" of possible danger. Generally speaking, the warning should be as conspicuous and as urgent as the danger reasonably calls for.

To judge the adequacy of a particular warning, courts will weigh various factors. Thus:

A label on paint, listing a dangerous ingredient, was held inadequate because the ingredient was described only by its chemical name, which few users would understand.

And the warning on a cleaning fluid was held inadequate because it was printed in letters that were too small.

On the other hand, when the warning is fair, it is not the manufacturer's fault if the user simply fails to pay attention to it. For example:

An adhesive compound, placed too close to an open flame, exploded and injured the user. But when he sued for damages, the company pointed out that the label had a plain and positive warning of the danger. Accordingly, the victim's claim was turned down.

Furthermore, many dangers are so obvious that no warning is needed at all. As one judge put it:

"A knife will cut and a stove will burn; but no authority holds that manufacturers must warn of such contingencies. No one needs notice of what he already knows."

Detached Retina May Be Inherited, Geneticist Says

COLLEGE STATION

A Texas A&M University geneticist believes that heredity plays a strong role in an affliction known as detached retina in human eyes.

Dr. N. A. McNiel, an associate professor of genetics, has just finished a year-long study of a large West Texas family for which he constructed a 181-member family tree. The study covered four generations.

His research turned up 31 with detached or partly detached retinas. Seven of the 31 are blind. After ophthalmological examination, eight members were found to be in need of immediate surgery.

The condition is a tearing or peeling of a thin lining on the inside rear of the eyeball. The lining contacts the optic nerve. Tearing can occur painlessly and with no immediate visual symptoms.

Here are some of McNiel's research conclusions:

---Detached retina in humans is inherited as an autosomal dominant gene. This means a child of a parent carrying the gene for the ailment stands almost a 50-50 chance of developing the trouble. The affliction can strike at any age.

---Very little research has been done recently on detached retina from the genetic standpoint.

---Frequent medical examination of persons subject to the affliction may prevent many cases of blindness.

---The inheritance of detached retina can be demonstrated in other families if enough time is spent in constructing a complete family tree through four or five generations.

McNiel said he is interested in hearing from persons who would like to investigate the condition in their family.

January Draft Call Is 905 Men

The January draft call for Texas is 905. Local draft boards will fill the call with men from the Extended Priority Selection Group with men from the First Priority Selection Group for 1971.

Colonel Duncan explained that the Extended Priority Selection Group includes all those men in I-A and I-A-O on December 31, 1970, whose random sequence numbers were reached by their local boards during 1970 but who were not called.

This group is made up of young men born between 1944 and 1950 who have not reached their 26th birthday.

The First Priority Selection Group for January will include men with random sequence numbers 100 and below and random sequence number 100 is expected to remain the ceiling for several months.

This group is composed of young men who reached age 19 during 1970, and who received lottery numbers in the July 1970 drawing and have not received deferments or exemptions from service.

You Don't Say...

COMPLEMENT

if you mean to flatter or speak highly of someone or thing.

COMPLIMENT is the correct word for this.

COMPLEMENT means that which fills up or completes a thing; that which must be added to make up a whole.

Example: the ship has her full COMPLEMENT of men. The reception was a perfect COMPLEMENT to the play.

WANT TO HAVE SOME FUN? TRY HUNTING BOB CATS IN LITTLE RIVER BOTTOM 65 YEARS AGO.

Its not too often we come across a picture such as this one made in Cameron 65 years ago and its not too often that a bob cat hunt is successful. A bob cat can run a pack of good hounds completely out of their minds. He runs in small circles, trees, jumps out and runs again and will take to the water to avoid capture. It is a lucky hound indeed that comes out of a bob cat fight without some scars. Pictured here is one of the largest bob cats ever caught in this area. It was caught in what used to be the big thicket next to the railroad in Little River bottom. It had been hunted many times before, but had always managed to get away.

Team power on instant call

That's TP&L and T.I.S.

T.I.S.? These initials are an abbreviation for Texas Interconnected System.

T.I.S. is made up of TP&L and eight other Texas electric utility firms which have joined together to assure that each, in times of emergency, can obtain power from the others instantly. This is just another technique TP&L uses to provide reliable electric service at the lowest possible cost.

Although TP&L has devised many new cost-cutting methods in most phases of its operation, the Company, like other firms and individuals, is experiencing a money pinch.

Increases in the cost of borrowing money for expansion, increased fuel costs for generating electricity, increased taxes and TP&L wage increases have placed a heavy burden on the Company to maintain electric rates at the level of the 1950's.

However, TP&L customers can be assured the Company will continue to supply an ample amount of electric power for everyone—at a reasonable cost.

4-H News

By Danny Phillips

The Holiday Season is here at last. It seems only yesterday that the new year of 1970 began. Now, most last minutes plans have been made and everything is all set for the arrival of that jolly old gentleman and his bag ful of gifts for the children.

And truly Christmas is for kids. And even tho we may complain about all of the bustle and hustle, we all know it is for the children's benefit. It reminds me of a story I heard about children and parents.

It seems there was a young boy who came in the living room one day where his father sat. The father was reading the newspaper and listening to T.V. The boy asked his father if he could come and play with him, but the father excused himself saying, he was too tired from his day's labor and didn't feel like playing. So the boy left like an obedient child.

A few minutes later the boy returned and the same scene was repeated. The father told him he was too busy and not to bother him.

The young boy was persistent and came back yet a third time. This time the father happened to notice a magazine beside him with a picture of the world on the front of it. Using his fatherly psychology he tore the page into small pieces and told the boy that when he had put the paper back together he would then play with him.

Delighted, the boy left and in a short 5 minutes returned. The father was astounded. He asked his son how he could do it so fast. The boy explained that on the back of the world picture there was a picture of a group of children playing. He had merely put the children together and thus the front picture was also correct.

He told his father, "You know dad, when you get the children together right, the world turns out right."

Maybe we should take a lesson from this story. Everyone, no matter who, should and can contribute to making the children right. MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL!

Shaw's Garage Offers Complete Repair Service

Ossie Shaw knows a lot about automobiles. He knows a lot about automotive specialties like radiators.

He is "putting it all together" on Waco Highway (US 77) across from Cameron Courts within a wrecker service and wrecking yard.

General repair is Shaw Garage by-word. Shaw and assistant Joe Mack Tabor can repair any kind of problem on domestic automobiles.

Work on air conditioning, transmissions, engines, mufflers, radiators, salvage is part of the Shaw Garage service.

Shaw personally has 30 years in the automotive business, general repair and radiator service. And his work toward a complete general repair and wrecking service continues in the Waco Highway location.

One of Shaw's Garage features is 24-hour service. And the phone number to remember is 697-3660. A call there anytime day or night will bring wrecker service to the stalled or damaged vehicle.

Shaw also offers used auto parts and used autos as well as complete overhaul on any American car.

Shaw opened in his new location March, 1970. Move from a location in Cameron was an expansion to the greater service center for wrecker service and auto repair.

Double doors await the incoming service customer, enough room to accomodate vehicles which require any of the services Shaw's Garage provides. Why not drive by today, or call when you need service you can depend on?

And remember that phone number, 697-3660, when your vehicle needs a tow to service or when a wrecker is vital to bring in a damaged vehicle.

Ossie Shaw will be there.

Cameron Motors: Chevrolet & Household Center

Cameron Motor Co, corner of Fourth and Fannin, is an automotive and household center.

Cameron Motor Co, of course, is the franchised Chevrolet dealership where new 1971's now are on display in an enlarging showroom and where complete auto service awaits.

This household center in butane and natural gas equipment is complete tnrough Central Butane offices and availability of Gulf and Goodrich tires and batteries.

R. W. Wells, owner of Cameron Motor Co., assures that complete automotive service is made possible with front-end alignment and wheelbalancing equipment and competent personnel.

And Travis Trotter, automotive manager, brings capable sales background to new and used car sales, emphasizing the 1971 Chevrolet line of cars and trucks which now is available, following the recently ended GM strike.

If it is household equipment needs in either butane or natural gas, Central Butane offers a complete household equipment lineup: central heating and air conditioning, kitchen ranges, heaters, waterheaters, a complete offering of first-line equipment.

Gulf tire and battery products are added to availability of a complete parts department for Chevrolet cars and trucks. Cameron Motor mechanics know tractor needs, particularly in tires.

Jack DuBois, is manager of Central Butane.

Associated with Cameron Motor Co. is the Charles Chandler Body Shop, where complete automotive body repair and "styling" is part of the automotive picture.

The whole operation is housed in about 18,000 square feet of modern, paneled offices, display and sales rooms and offices at Cameron Motor Co.

Work continues on refining better useage of the major automotive and household center, one of the largest in Central Texas.

Work underway will allow greater display room of used cars on the Fourth St. front of the Chevrolet agency and additional display room for new Chevrolets.

Wells started the transformation in June, when he purchased the Chevrolet franchise and instituted Cameron Motor Co,

It even includes a bulldozer and heavy equipment service, another element of Wells development around Cameron Motor Co.

So if it's for complete automotive and household gas equipments needs, Cameron Motor Co. and related service is the place.

Stockmen Attend Cattle Meeting

By J. D. Moore

Irwin Fuessel of Thorndale, J. L. Banks of Rockdale, Ezra Johnson and D. S. Smith Jr of Gause, Henry Ivey, Jimmy Newhouse, Henry Gates, John Snell, Ray Jensen, Leo Fuchs, Calvin Cobb and J. D. Moore all from the Cameron area attended a two day beef cattle meeting at A&M on December 14 and 15.

Researchers in the animal science department gave a number of interesting programs on various phases of the beef cattle business.

Dr. Gibney Kendrick Jr., Falls County Stockman discussed the topic "A Central Texas Beef Producer Looks to the Future."

Dr. Kendrick emphasized the changes needed for those to continue in the beef cattle business. He stressed product improvement by pointing out that the average weaning weight of calves in Texas is 385 pounds.

Records are needed along with cross breeding, use of proven sires, artificial breeding to produce calves capable of gaining 3 lbs. a day on 6 lbs of feed.

Not only should efficiency be improved, but we must produce cattle to meet market demands, says Dr. Kendrick.

Much valuable research is under way at A&M. This cattle meeting was designed to give stockmen from the blackland area an opportunity to see and hear about the research projects being carried on through research not only at A&M, but at research stations located throughout Texas.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Beef Sirloin Tip Roast.

Q. Where does it come from? How is it identified?

A. The beef sirloin tip roast is cut from the thin side of the beef round and contains a small portion of the sirloin. The only bone is the knee cap. Frequently this cut is retailed with the bone, cap muscle and thin layer of outer fat removed, making a compact, easy to carve roast.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. By roasting (if of high quality) or braising. To roast, place the meat fat side up on a rack in an open roasting pan. Roast in slow oven (325°F.) until the thermometer registers 140°F. to 160°F. (rare to medium), depending upon degree of doneness desired.

To braise, brown meat on all sides in heavy utensil. Season as desired and add a small amount of liquid. Cover tightly and cook slowly until tender, about 3 to 4 hours.

Bob Newton of Austin visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Newton Friday.

Mrs. Frank Tyson and girls of Houston visited Mrs. Belle Tyson this weekend.

A gold mine near Johnsville, California, may have been the home of America's first ski lift. In the 1860's skiers slid down the mountain slope there on Sundays, riding up again aboard the mine's chain line ore buckets.

ASCS

By Alva E. Sanders

Milam County ASC Committee Chairman Ted Ford, has resigned. Mr. Ford has served 17 years as a commendable committeeman.

The new member of the ASC Committee will be Erwin Fuessel, who will serve as regular member. The other two members of the three-member ASC County Committee are Hugo Fuchs who is now chairman and Pete Keen will be serving as vice-chairman.

The following are some major provisions of the 1971 Feed Grain Program that was recently passed by legislation. At this time, however, there are many unknowns in the feed grain situation.

The final set-aside percentage is not being announced until there is additional information on factors affecting the 1971 crops. For the purpose of the January Farmers Planting Intentions Report, the Department will tentatively plan for a 20 percent set-aside for feed grain.

The decision on the actual percentage will be made prior to the program signup period. March 1 through April 9, 1971. In addition to the set-aside acreage a farmer must also maintain the conserving base established for the farm.

The set-aside program will give producers more options in the uncertain situations for corn than previous programs since it places no limits on the planting of crops except those for which marketing quotas are approved by farmers. These crops are peanuts, rice, tobacco, extra long staple cotton, and sugarcane.

Corn and grain sorghum will be considered feed grains for purposes of the set-aside program -- barley will not be included. As under previous programs, a feed grain base will be established for each farm. This base will be approximately the same size as the one established for each farm in 1970.

The feed grain base under the set-aside program does not represent a limitation on the acreage of feed grains which may be planted, but will be used for the following two purposes: to determine the amount of price support payment for each farm; and to determine the number the number of acres to be set-aside from crop production to qualify for such payment.

The method of calculating set-aside payments for a farm will be like that of the 1970 program: half the feed grain base times the farm yield times the payment per bushel. Unlike the 1970 program -- when participants were paid on the actual acreage of feed grain planted up to 50 percent of the farm base -- participants in the set-aside program will receive the full payment regardless of what they plant on their acreage.

A farmer is not required to plant feed grains to earn price support payment as has been required under prior programs. However, if less than 45 percent of the feed grain base is planted, the base for 1972 and subsequent years may be reduced (except if a farmer participates in both the feed grain and wheat programs, or if he has no wheat allotment and participates in the feed grain program, wheat acreage in excess of the allotment and participates in the feed grain program, wheat acreage in excess of the allotment will be counted as feed grain for base retention purposes.)

A producer may participate in the feed grain program on any farm or all farms in which he has an interest, as he wishes.

For more details concerning the 1971 Feed Grain Program, or the Cotton and Wheat Programs, contact the Milam County ASCS Office.

Steak Scores with Teens

A recent survey reveals that steak is the favorite food of America's 13 million teenage girls, and hamburgers are the food item they cook most often for themselves. Four out of 5 girls also eat canned meat products, and enjoy them for snacks as well as meals. They admit to taste being more important than nutritional value in choosing canned meat products.

FISH FARMERS TO MEET

The first annual convention of the Catfish Farmers of Texas, Inc. and the third annual Fish Farming Conference will be held in Texas A&M's Memorial Student Center, Jan. 7-8, 1971. Wallace Klussmann, Extension wildlife specialist, says any person interested in fish farming is invited to attend. Some 500 persons are expected. Discussion will center around two major problems; parasites and diseases and marketing. Fish farming equipment will also be on display during the two days, he said. Local county agents have details.

Soaring Seventies

By 1980 it is estimated personal consumer spending will hit eight hundred billion dollars annually. About 66 percent of the American people will have a real income over $7,500 a year and one in four families will enjoy a income of over $15,000.

Menu Please!

A recent survey shows that people eat 1 out of 7 meals away from home, and that families with higher incomes eat out more often. As might be expected, city dwellers eat out more often than rural people.

Wary European despots once bought Venetian crystal goblets in the vain belief they shattered at a drop of poison, recalls the National Geographic Society's new book, The Renaissance.

Hidden "Clocks"

Scientific evidence from biomedical research shows that man is constructed not only of matter, but that he is also a creature of time—dependent upon unseen biological clocks, organized down to his cells according to temporal mechanisms, and bound to subtle, fluctuating rhythms in health and in disease.
